- The Original Sin -

(19. december. 2008. under the night of Ildikó Bálint's death)

The beginning of social evolutionary tribal development is also the emergence of human consciousness, where the saturation of ecological niches and Darwinian biological weaponization creates human consciousness, and in parallel, human culture emerges as an unintended by-product.

In the second stage (i.e. now), human consciousness transcends the Gödelian model of social homeostasis and reverses its original evolutionary program, thus overcoming nature's flawed design and irrational inheritance, and at the same time establishing a biological-ecological imperative for those with consciousness, which is, among other things, the duty of care to those without.

The third stage will be the transformation of life into a non-material information format and the abandonment of earthly material existence.

In the analysis of this second - current - stage, we can find some insights, such as the question of the socio-moral imperative of consciousness.

There are no ultimate truths in human culture either, only a series of partial truths of human scale and duration shape culture.

Man's evolutionarily inherited irrational load, which manifests itself, among other things, in the need to personify objects, and which may even - as has been demonstrated - lead directly to the development of the concept of God, for example.

All those who explain the world with the tools of the present human-social consciousness, saturated with irrational elements, are committing an infinite moral sin against biological earth-human existence.

The consciousness of these beings schizoidally manufactures another consciousness, thus growing a tumor of fake consciousness on its brain, and even addictively manufactures the concept of a Supreme Being to free its own consciousness from the moral imperative of the collective responsibility of biological existence.

They do not consider as their mission the redemption of conscious and unconscious living beings not by faith but by reason and natural science, whereby they could rewrite the immense history of suffering imposed on earthly beings by the blind tribal evolution of nature (as we know: Nature is the temple of Satan), but rather by transcending the inherited evolutionary obscurity and instinctual program to condition the flawed creation and the resulting human culture.

These people, living in synchrony with the overall social consciousness of faith, forego the attempt to understand and survive in a world that is currently evolving and truly obscure to human reason, and to pass on the lessons learned, thus carrying out a social selection, also in preference to their religious caste fate.

Thus they parasitize on irrational systems of thought, whose self-reinforcing feedback makes the world even more vague and irrational for successive generations of society.

With these belief systems, the world can be explained, but never understood or decoded.

The social psychozoic, thus mediatized, amoebasic, without planetoid consciousness, which can be described as a homeostasis on the temporal axis of history, realizes its self-cleansing reflexes according to completely unconscious sociological rules, by which the system selects from itself the small cells, the 'cancerous' cells, which are out of phase with the overall social vibration and the practice of irrationality in the everyday life of the greatest common social evil of the fake consciousness.

It eradicates from the ranks of the living those who, in accordance with the cultural-biological imperative of the redemption of all, instead of developing and accepting irrational consciousness, wish to create a new evolutionary step by revising the evolutionary belief and program that is destroying the world.

Selection today (as opposed to, for example, in the Middle Ages) works by distorting the personality, reducing it to suicide, addictive lifestyles and self-inflicted illnesses, and by imposing a general malaise on these individuals who might otherwise have new ideas and new visions that could advance society precisely because of their alienation and deviance.

It is precisely in the individual that introduces the novelty that the community-enhancing and public-energy-giving activity ceases.

The nature and order of this second phase of human world history thus approves and rewards irrational thinking.

These comme il faut individuals are therefore not selected out, and in the exercise of their "karma" they do not need to transcribe their fatebook. Synchronic beings.

As is sociologically proven, it is precisely as a reward for faithful reflection of this orderly ethos that the system promises long life and social progress to its practitioners, so that here indeed a state of consciousness and synallagma faithful to the evolutionary program is rewarded, and thus the retaliation against the immune-opposite thoughts that invert this original program is taking place.

Agreeing with the irrationality of the present social ethos, however, burdens its practitioners and beneficiaries with the moral-biological sin of existence, because the media predominance of their class deprives those who (for example) have not inherited by birth the false wrap around neck Ariadne's thread of this worldview, which is incomprehensible to them, un lucrative and suicidal.

Need to repeating: because they interpret the natural world in terms of a metaphysical value system, they make the biological principle of the salvation of all and its extension to non-conscious beings impossible.

Their transcendence becomes a swamp of the darkest immanence.

For the noble structures of thought that attempt to offer an individual solution and a way out of the millennia of linear decline and collective collapse of the socium, instead of an understanding of the nature of communal structures of existence, actually serve the individual reinforcement of existing irrationality, which makes individual non-metaphysical self-correction impossible, even though their sociological communion could only change the world.

After being faithful to the conscious halo-court of the original irrational, religious god-world, thus faithfully fulfilling the original program of evolutionary necessity, they now destroy the original biological creation that created them with the unheard-of power of human consciousness and its metaphysical (meme) imagery.

Which, let us remember, is none other than the "Temple of Satan", the Uroboros Snake biting its own tail.

For example, for the first time in the world, as one of the inventions of this second phase, the democracy of (finance) capitalism, following the world domination of religious organisations, has solved, with the speed of light and ingenious manipulative power compared to the despotic powers of the East or the West, the problem of people enthroning their own biological enemies.

It is as if the dark shadows of the old Persian gnosis are produced by human minds - while voting themselves their own executioners - as if they were doing so of their own free will.

This self-deception is not intentional, because here there are drifting processes that can no longer be controlled by any social system or conceptual structure.

Just as in the dominant social system of the second stage the syncretism of the biology and ideology of the individuals of consumption leads to a genetic collapse (the subordination of the overall social eugenic interest to the right of individual consumption), so where the meaning of the existence of human beings is justified only by the "human right" of their capacity to consume, the dissemination of fake social consciousness is a necessary precondition for the global survival of the system.

And that is the original sin.

That humans are alive in this universal and combinatorial DNA lottery is a fluke, given that the vast majority of potentially occurring human beings are never born in reality. For the lucky ones who do live here, the brevity but also the value of their lives is well illustrated in the metaphor of a laser-precision beam of light scanning by the symbolizing infinite measuring-stick of time. In the Universe, everything but the thin beam of this reflector is lost in the icy darkness of the dead past or the unknown future. Those who live in the warm glow of this spotlight are blessed with amazing good fortune, but they are also burdened with heavy duties.

This imperative means the victory over hideous sins of the individual being borne together with us, descending from our „Mother-Lucy” being the creator of the greatest common human evolutionary evil and tucked underneath the alienated social mass.

The violation of this rule, that has been continuing since the Creation, is the Original Sin.
